

I believe that the best route for Broadband would be over the existing power lines...just as long as it does not add to the load. I do not believe that telephone companies or cable companies should be allowed to profit from something everyone needs.